CONGRESS IN SESSION

The Fifty-Second Session Convenes in Washington.

GREAT INTEREST MANIFESTED.

Both House and Senate Crowded with Visitors to View the Opening Session. Eight Vacancies in the House—No Reorganization Necessary in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Promptly at noon today the stars and stripes fluttered to the breeze from the staffs on the east and west wings of the Capitol and the fifty-second congress began its first session.

By 11 o'clock everybody in town seemed to be moving over against the Capitol on foot, in cars and cabs and vehicles of every description. Pennsylvania avenue, the great thoroughfare, looked like a panorama of moving celebrities. And yet there was not room inside the mammoth building for half the number that wanted to witness the opening ceremonies. The corridors were jammed an hour before noon, and to reach a door leading into either the house or the senate required not only perseverance, patience and strong language, but the practical application of gymnastics.

In the House.

The scene in the house presented an animated picture. The galleries were packed, and at fifteen minutes before noon, when the sergeant-at-arms announced that the time had arrived for those not entitled to the privileges of the floor to retire, standing room was at a premium. A good many new faces appeared in the throng of members-elect, but there was a sufficient number of familiar figures to remind the spectators of old times. The elephantine form of ex-Speaker Reed loomed up conspicuously at the extreme right of the chamber, where he discussed the recent elections with Lodge and Burrows.

The sprightly Springer, with the inevitable boutonnierre and perennial smile, moved nimbly about buttonholing Democratic members; the "silver tongued" Breckinridge viewed the scene nonchalantly, with hands in pockets; Bland sat quietly on a sofa, meditatively jingling a trio of silver dollars, while the lank figure of Jerry Simpson was the cynosure of all eyes.

As the hands of the great clock opposite the speaker's desk marked the hour of 12 Edward McPherson, clerk of the last house, appeared at the clerk's desk and called the house to order. The roll of members-elect was called by state, and it was found that there were eight vacancies on the clerk's roll, occasioned by the deaths of Messrs. Spinola of New York, Ford of Michigan, Gamble of South Dakota, Houk of Tennessee, and Lee of Virginia, and the resignations of Messrs. Boddy, Flower and Russell of New York. Their successors, except to General Lee, have been elected, but as the clerk has not received the proper certificates of their election their names are not on the roll, and they will not participate in the organization of the house, except, possibly, in the case of the New York members, the board of state canvassers having expedited the canvass as to their election.

The next thing in order is the election of a speaker. Whether the drawing for seats will occur when the speakership question is settled has not been determined, but the chances are that everything will be had until the organization is perfected.

The president's message will not be read in the house until Tuesday, and an adjournment will follow until Thursday. Not much in the way of business can be done until after the committees are appointed. At the beginning of a long session the custom is for the house to adjourn for three days at a time until after the holidays.

The Senate.

The senate being a continuous body, no reorganization was necessary today. Nevertheless a large crowd was drawn to the galleries, anxious to behold the induction into office of a number of new senators who have achieved fame in other fields. The spectators gratified their curiosity by ogling the patriarchal Peffer, "Adonis" Gibson of Maryland, the austere ex-Secretary Proctor and bland and demure ex-Secretary Vilas. Senator Sherman appeared early and held quite a levee. Members from both sides of the chamber shook his hand and questioned him concerning his prospects of re-election.

Sharply at noon Vice President Morton rapped for order, and the chaplain of the senate ordered a brief prayer. Then the new senators were sworn in and committees were appointed to wait on the house of representatives and to inform the president that congress was in session and ready to receive any communication he might wish to make. A recess was taken to await the report of these committees.

The President's Message.

No report is expected from the president, as Mr. Harrison has decided not to send in his annual message until Tuesday noon.

Caucusing for a Speaker.

The Democrats of the house met Saturday afternoon in caucus to nominate a speaker. Messrs. Crisp, Mills, McMullin, Springer and Hatch were nominated. The first ballot resulted as follows: Crisp, 89; Mills, 80; Springer, 28; McMullin, 18; Hatch, 11; Stevens, 1. Fifteen more ballots were taken without any great change and after a session lasting ten hours the caucus adjourned just before midnight. The seventh and last ballot resulted:

Crisp, 94; Mills, 91; Springer, 19; McMullin, 17; Hatch, 5; Stevens, 1. The Republicans met in caucus Saturday night.

day and decided to give the complimentary vote for speaker to ex-Speaker Reed. All the officers of the old house were also renominated. The session was only a short one.

PRESSURE FOR PLACES.

Wonderful Skill of President Harrison in Handling Office Seekers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—It is improbable that since the days of General Grant at the White House there has ever been as much pressure brought as now for appointments. In the first place President Harrison has more prominent places to give within the next few days than has fallen to the lot of many presidents in the history of the country. In the second place there never has been so much good material and willing as now.

A judicial position for life worth $5,000 or $6,000 a year is an uncommon plum. A place on the interstate commerce commission at $7,500 a year for a period of six years is something to be longed for by almost any lawyer. The mission to China or Japan and a lot of good places in the territories, besides a life place on the court of claims at $5,000 a year, have called out the most active efforts of men who are willing to serve Uncle Sam.

It is said that there are enough papers on file for the twenty or thirty prominent positions which the president will soon fill to load a two-horse wagon. These are from the most eminent lawyers, business men and politicians in the country. They are not only the wishes of the persons who signed them, but the anticipations of a host of influence.

It has been a very difficult matter for those who have called on the president singly or in numbers to arrive at any conclusion as to what was occupying his mind, or what he intended to do. Some who are adept in character reading, and who are familiar with President Harrison, have essayed to arrive at conclusions in their own minds that he would do this thing or fail to do that.

The process by which these imaginary or real conclusions have been reached is interesting. It is said that President Harrison can never be caught off his guard, and that he never makes a careless observation, even playfully. Those who have tried to reconcile their own minds as to what he would or would not do have taken their conclusions from the pleasant or unpleasant or stoical expression upon the face of the president at the time they talked to him about appointments and the questions he was asked in reference to the character and qualifications of the applicants.

It is said that the president often raises objections to applicants which would seem to be constitutionally in the way of appointment, when in reality he intended to appoint.

His object in bringing up the objections, it is believed, was for the purpose of satisfying his own mind as to the natural objections which arose within him. In any event there has never been a president who has had greater fortune in his appointments or who has had fewer undesirable appointees thrust upon him.

KILLED BY CARS.

One Man Dead and Another Dying from Being Struck by Trains.

NASHVILLE, Dec. 7.—Two serious accidents happened Saturday night, and one man is dying, while the other is dead at the hospital. George Haley was run over and both legs cut off by a freight train at Whiteside, some miles this side of Chattanooga. He was beating his way on a lumber car and fell off while the train was going at a speedy rate. He died last night at 8 o'clock.

John Parker, a blacksmith, was knocked off the Nashville and Chattanooga track by an engine and hurled twenty feet. He was crossing two tracks and trains were coming from both ways. He only saw one and the other knocked him off the track. He is mortally wounded.

NORTHERN PACIFIC LANDSLIDE.

The Coroner Investigating as to the Cause of the Accident.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 7.—The coroner and district attorney of King county have finished an investigation into the cause of the landslide on the Northern Pacific railroad at Canton two weeks ago. They find there is no necessity for an inquest over the bodies of the men killed.

The coroner said there was no question as to the cause of the death and no charge of criminal negligence could be sustained. Nine or ten men are still missing, and he thinks they have either escaped or have been carried down the river. Four bodies have been recovered, and the search is still continuing.

Eloping Woman Returns.

WASHINGTON, Ind., Dec. 7.—Mrs. Annie Ingle, who eloped with Bert Lourey, at Oden, one week ago, after having been married to Adam Ingle the night previous, has returned to Oden and attempted to make peace with her husband. It will be remembered that Mrs. Ingle, in her flight with Lourey, carried off all her husband's money, leaving him penniless. Mr. Ingle refuses positively to receive the repentant woman, but instead is making preparation to have her and her paramour indicted on a charge of grand larceny.

Lourey has not returned, and it would be unhealthy for him to make his appearance at Oden, as the injured husband is laying for him with a gun, and purposes to lay him out permanently at the first opportunity.

WABASH, Ind., Dec. 7.—John R. Ralston, a well known resident of Warsaw, was fatally injured Saturday night near that place by a train on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad. Mr. Ralston was walking on the track, and a high wind prevented him hearing a train, which struck him and knocked him off. One arm and one leg were cut off. Though alive when taken to his home, he sank rapidly, and expired four hours after being run over.

WORK FOR CONGRESS

Legislative Outlook for the Fifty-Second Session.

OPINIONS OF LEADING MEN.

This Being a New Session All Work Must Begin Anew and No Continuing Subjects Can Be Considered. Although a Number of Measures Before the Last Session Will Be Brought Up Before This One—International Questions of Great Importance Will Be Considered.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The legislative outlook for the Fifty-second congress, in the opinion of leading men of both houses is not clearly defined. There are no continuing subjects which either house can take up of itself and pass to completion. This being a new congress, all legislation must originate de novo. A number of important measures passed by the last house were pending in the senate when adjourned. Among them were the elections or force bill, a national bankruptcy bill, the pure lard bill and others.

There is no probability of an attempt to revive the elections bill during the next congress. It is thought desirability of adopting some national system of regulating bankruptcy may engage the attention of the senate committee on commerce. Senator Paddock, of Nebraska, will endeavor to present his pure food bill as a substitute for the lard bill. Senator Culver has some amendments to the interstate commerce bill to propose.

The silver question in various shapes was pending when the Fifty-first congress terminated and there was an investigation into the workings of the McKinley tariff act in progress by a committee of the senate. Should the result of that investigation be actively brought to the front it might precipitate a tariff debate in the senate. There is a disposition, however, on the part of leading senators of both parties to leave the initiative tariff matter to the house where it belongs and not to force the fighting in the senate on any issues which will enter into the presidential contest of 1892.

Senators believe that a very large interest of the coming session will be centered in the executive sessions. Interesting information is expected in regard to our relations with Chili. If in the time that has gone by or at the present time our relations with that country have assumed a phase which might have endangered or which still endangers peace, the facts will be laid before the senate either by public message or by confidential communication, in either case to be considered in executive session.

It is thought that not all the reciprocity agreements which have been negotiated with Spain and Spanish-American countries under the reciprocity clauses of the McKinley bill come under that clause. Some of them present points requiring concurrent action by the senate.

The increasing gravity of the situation in China may impose upon the United States the necessity of taking action for the protection of American interests in that country.

Information will undoubtedly be laid before the senate as to the proposed arbitration of the Behring sea question with Great Britain. The correspondence on this subject, when the senate last heard of it, had reached a stage where Great Britain proposed to limit arbitration to the question of what rights Great Britain had conceded to Russia in the Behring sea before the purchase of Alaska by the United States, and to limit United States authority over Behring sea by the decision thus to be arrived at. To this the United States replied that such a form of submission would not be calculated to assure a conclusion satisfactory to either party, and proposed, instead, six points of arbitration:

First—What exclusive jurisdiction as to seal fishery did Russia exercise before the cession to the United States?

Second—How far did Great Britain acquiesce?

Third—Was Behring sea included in the phrase "Pacific ocean" used in treaty of 1825?

Fourth—Did not all Russia's rights pass to the United States?

Fifth—What are now the rights of the United States in the seal fisheries outside the three-mile limit?

Sixth—What international regulations are necessary for a closed season?

The senate will probably be informed to what extent Great Britain has agreed to submit these questions to arbitration. This is expected to be done in a special message.

In the matter of confirming appointments the executive sessions of the senate are likely to be important. The names of nine new circuit judges of appeals, two interstate commerce commissioners and a secretary of war will probably be among the first nominations sent in.

Changes in the personnel of the senate will necessitate a complete reorganization of the senate committees. Senators Edmunds, Evans, Ingalls, Payne, and others who have hitherto borne a large share of the committee work, have left their places to be filled by others.

The element of new membership will play a still more important part in the organization of the house. Of the 235 Democratic members entitled to enter into the organization of the house, 105 have never before occupied a seat in congress. Nearly every state in the union is represented on this list of new members.

When to these are added twenty-eight new Republican members and eight Farmers' Alliance men it will be seen that the speaker will have a herculean task before him in ascertaining as far as possible the preference of 141 new members who know nothing about committee work and making assignments that will be satisfactory to all of them. It is not in the least likely that the committees can be arranged and the house be organized for legislative business until after the Christmas holidays.

On whatever basis the house committees may be eventually organized it is reasonably certain from official pronouncements already made by all the party chiefs, that the five or six committees which share with the committee on appropriation the control of the expenditures will be organized with a view to cutting down the appropriations to the lowest possible limit. Mr. Holman says: "It will be a horizontal reduction. Everything but the pensions must be reduced. They are a fixture."

MILLIONS OF APPLES.

Facts About the Heavy Crop in the Southern Indiana Belt.

HANOVER, Ind., Dec. 7.—The apple crop of southern Indiana for 1891 has been entirely harvested, and that portion which is intended for market is safely stored and ready for shipment during the current month to Chicago, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Louisville, where the bulk of the fruit raised here finds ready purchasers at good prices.

It is estimated that upwards of 50,000 bushels are now in store and ready for shipment at Madison, the seat of Jefferson county. The varieties, all the best apples for keeping, include the Winesaps, Waggoner, Roman Beauties and Genetings.

S. H. Tulle, a pioneer citizen and one of the leading fruit-growers of this (Jefferson) county, estimates the total crop of the great apple belt of southern Indiana at 250,000 barrels, and the yield of Jefferson county alone, the banner county in this quarter of the state, at 50,000 bushels. During an interview with the gentleman by a correspondent it was learned that the crop of apples for 1891 was nearest to a full one that was ever before raised in this section, and the quality unsurpassed as to every known variety. The gentleman states that the attention of farmers is being directed more than ever before to fruit culture in this section, especially to the raising of apples and peaches, for which both soil and climate seem to be especially adapted.

Many thousands of new trees have been set out, and future crops—peaches particularly—will be largely augmented. In the matter of peach-raising, the yield in Jefferson county for the season of '91 exceeded that of any other county in this quarter of the state, and averaged, in the opinion of good judges, upwards of 250,000 crates. Nearly a quarter of a million crates were shipped from Madison alone.

Among the leading orchards here are the Argus Dean, covering 4,000 acres of land, and containing more than 125,000 bearing trees: the John B. Ross orchard, which embraces a still greater tract of land, and includes a much larger number of trees, and many others of minor size, containing from 1,000 to 5,000 trees each.

The average life of an apple tree is from thirty to thirty-five years, and the average yield of a full grown tree from three to five barrels. A tree in this county, that was set out exactly forty years ago, yielded this fall the enormous quantity of twenty-two barrels.

The apple worm, which wrought such havoc among the trees a few years ago, has not made its appearance in this section during the past three or four years, and it is hoped that the pest has emigrated for good to some other quarter of the globe.

THE EARTHQUAKE IN JAPAN.

Further Account of the Great Disaster as Taken from a Japanese Paper.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Japanese papers are filled with further details of the great earthquake. The loss of life is less than first reported, but the destruction of property and misery of survivors has not been exaggerated. The Japan Gazette says: Information grows more pitiful and serious as time goes on. Though it is now more than a week since the earthquake, bodies are still being recovered.

The worst was not discovered until yesterday, for it has been found that the most awful results of the visitation were experienced in Neo valley, Gifu-Ken. Here a subsidence of the ground took place to the depth of thirty feet. The ancient temple of Saikyoji, at Muzutori, sank up to its roof and all the houses are described as looking as if giant hands had crushed them into the earth. Two hundred crushed bodies had been taken out at this place up to November. Twenty villages have entirely disappeared.

A visitor to Gifu says: Passing through this valley of death one comes upon ruins of Ichinomura, formerly a town of 10,000 people, now utterly destroyed. Further on Kassamatsu, once a flourishing town, but not a vestige is left save broken tiles. The whole town was shaken down in an instant and then flames burst forth so that 300 wounded perished miserably by fire.

No estimate of losses has yet been made, but several big temples destroyed will cost nearly $1,000,000 to restore. Large sums have been raised for the relief of sufferers, but hundreds are said to be starving in Gifu and Osatiu.

It Proved to Be a Murder.

TOLEDO, Dec. 7.—Harvey McDonald, the ex-convict and all-round tough, who was stabbed by his companion, Coakley, Friday, and found at Washington and St. Clair streets leaning against a lamp-post, died at 8 o'clock Saturday night. His body was taken in charge by his sister, Mrs. Lizzie Fitts, a very respectable lady, and his brother, Edward McDonald. Coakley, the murderer, with two other of McDonald's companions, is in the station house. The knife with which the stabbing was done has not been found. The extent of the wound shows it must have been a bowie or butcher knife.

DO NOT LOSE THIS GRAND OPPORTUNITY,

IF YOU NEED A

CLOAK OR WRAP!

A BONA FIDE MARK-DOWN--A DEEP CUT IN PRICES!

Every Cloak and Wrap in the BEE HIVE'S stock (and it is the largest ever in Maysville) has been greatly reduced in price. The old prices have been left remaining in plain figures and the new cut prices, also in plain figures, are directly beneath the old prices, thus showing the amount of reduction on each garment, being positive proof that the reduction is no sham or humbug, but a genuine, sure-enough, substantial mark-down.

For beautiful and useful CHRISTMAS PRESENTS the Bee Hive is headquarters. Among articles suitable we mention: Handkerchiefs, Mufflers, Gloves, Hosiery, Underwear, Umbrellas, Neckwear, Shirts, Suspenders, Towels, Table Linens, Fancy Throws, Head Rests, Slumber-Pillows, Sachets, Toilet Cases, Art Needle Work, Mirrors, Toilet Articles, Fancy Table Covers, Lambrequins, Muffs, Furs, Dress Goods, Blankets, Comforts, &c., &c.

For the Farmer.

One of the ways in which you can help make your stock-keeping profitable this winter, is to hold over on more animals than you can properly and comfortably shelter.

The German potato crop in 1890 fell short of an average by 2,000,000 tons. The yield this year is better than that of 1890, but is still short of an average by 1,170,000 tons.

David Carrigan sold his crop of tobacco at 13 cents per pound to James C. Owens, of Maysville. Mr. Carrigan has a fine crop, but this is considered a good price.—Aberdeen Gretna Green.

The Jersey Bulletin says that the Holsteins have never beaten the Jerseys on any occasion where the two breeds have met in a butter test, and where butter was made, except once, and that at the New York Dairy Show.

The Shorthorn, as known in America, is so purely a beef animal that in some instances the cows do not give milk enough to feed their own calves; yet in England there is a distinct and well-known breed of dairy Shorthorns.

Says the Western Tobacco Journal: "Sales are becoming numerous now in the burley belt of Kentucky, and prices paid seem to be very good, judging by the reports of the size of 1891 crop. But while it is a full crop, yet it is a good one, both in color and body, and the 1890 crop being sadly deficient in color, makes the new all the more desirable, and country buyers seem willing to risk good stiff figures on the strength of the probable demand. As high as 15c all 'round has been reported for large crops, and sales are frequent at 10 and 12 cents, with comparatively few below 8 cents."

James Whitcomb Riley's Income.

It Riley would accept all the invitations to social pleasures extended to him in New York he would be kept busy. But, although he is a charming story-teller, and an easy and graceful conversationalist, he does not like to go out much. He is shy and prefers to sit in a corner with a few friends who know him and understand him. Even on the platform he is nervous and fidgety and glad when he has finished his readings. For the benefit of those who say that poets can not make their salt, I will say that Mr. Riley could make $15,000 a year from his poetry if he possessed the commercial instinct and would accept all the work tendered him. As it is he makes $5,000 a year from his poems and three times that much from his readings.—New York Mail and Express.

Our readers will notice the advertisements in these columns of Chamberlain & Co., Des Moines, Iowa. From personal experience we can say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has broken up bad colds for our children and we are acquainted with many mothers in Centerville who would not be without it in the house for a good many times its cost and are recommending it every day.—Centerville (S. MINER'S MAXIMS.

Time Has Its Distances As Well As Space, But it is Measured By the Memory Instead of By the Mile.

So long as the world has a memory anniversaries will be interesting. They unite the present with the past as nothing else will. They bring together what has gone and what is here; beside the substance of to-day stand the shadows of yesterday.

♦ ♦ ♦ ♦

A few more sturdy strides and time will bring us to our sixtieth anniversary—a clean, honest, upright record, to which we point with pardonable pride. What a procession of souls and soles! What a procession of wearers and worn! Of soles that have touched the earth and of souls that shall know it nevermore!

♦ ♦ ♦ ♦

Not quietly in and quietly out shall such an anniversary pass unnoticed. How will Miner signalize it? From Wednesday, December 9, until the stock is exhausted, to every purchaser of a pair of Shoes a DOLL will be given. Why? Because this is the season of the year Dolls hold high carnival and when the children hold high carnival with them. Bring on your children—Miner brings on his Dolls. Remember this: With each pair a Doll—with each pair a handsome Doll; with no pair a penny added to what the cost would be without a Doll.

CONSOLIDATED.

Chester is No Longer Chester,
But Is Now the Sixth Ward of This City.

Proceedings of the Council Saturday Night—Salary of Marshal and Deputies Increased.

All members of the City Council were present at roll call at the adjourned meeting Saturday night, except Mr. Newell and Mr. Wood. They afterwards came in.

President Cox read a report of the action of the Town Council of Chester in reference to consolidating that corporation with Maysville. It was as follows:

The matter of the consolidation of the town of Chester with the city of Maysville, in Mason County, under and by virtue of the act of the Legislature approved May 16, 1890, having been submitted to the legal voters of the town of Chester on the 28th day of November, 1891, by an ordinance of this body passed November 6, 1891, setting forth the plan of consolidation under said act, of which due notice was given as required by law—a similar ordinance having been passed by the Board of Councilmen of the city of Maysville submitting the matter to the legal voters of said city on the same day—and it being certified to this Board by the officers that held said election in the several wards of this town that a majority had voted in Chester in favor of said consolidation, to-wit: 75 for it and 38 against it, which has been and is now entered of record; and it being duly certified to this body that a majority in Maysville at said election had voted in favor of said consolidation, to-wit: 467 for it and 69 against it, thus carrying the proposition in both corporations, it is ordered that this body proceed to select by lot the three members to act as Councilmen from Chester, to be known as the Sixth ward of the city of Maysville, in the Council of said city, as provided in said act of the Legislature. Whereupon George Schroeder, whose term expires January, 1893, and Fred Dressell, whose term expires January, 1892, and Thomas Tolle, whose term expires January, 1892, were duly selected as said Councilmen, which is ordered to be and is hereby certified to the City Council of Maysville; and it being duly certified to this body that the City Council of Maysville has adjourned to meet at the Council Chamber of said city on the 5th day of December, 1891, at 7:30 p. m., to take such further action by ordinance or otherwise as may be deemed proper to fully consummate said consolidation, when and where the said Councilmen selected by this body are expected to attend and act as members of the Board of Councilmen of the city of Maysville from the Sixth ward of said city; and it is further ordered that the records of the town of Chester be held subject to the custody and orders of said City Council, and this body is adjourned sine die.

H. H. COLLINS, Chairman.

J. B. NEWTON, Clerk.

One motion, the report was received and ordered spread upon the records.

Messrs. Tolle, Schroeder and Dressell were present and on invitation took their seats as members of Council from the Sixth ward.

The following ordinance was read and received:

Be it ordained by the Board of Councilmen of the City of Maysville, That the matter of the consolidation of the town of Chester with the city of Maysville under and by virtue of the act of the Legislature approved May 16, 1890, having been duly submitted to the legal voters of each corporation on the 28th day of November, 1891, and carried—as shown by the poll books and certificates of the officers holding the election under said submission in each of said corporations and entered of record—and the town of Chester having selected by lot three Councilmen to serve as members of this Council until their successors are duly elected and qualified, and having certified the same to this Council, to-wit: George Schroeder, whose term expires in January, 1893, Frederick Dressell, whose term expires in January, 1892, and Thomas Tolle, whose term expires in January, 1892, who are present and acting with this Council; it is now therefore ordered and ordained that by virtue of said act and the proceedings thereunder the town of Chester is merged into and made part of the city of Maysville, to be known as the Sixth ward, in accordance with the plan submitted, to-wit: That the town of Chester shall not be responsible for or charged with any debt of Maysville existing at the time of consolidation, nor shall the city of Maysville be responsible for or charged with any debt of the town of Chester; and that the ordinance of the city of Maysville preventing the running at large of stock shall not apply to the town of Chester—now the Sixth ward—unless hereafter a majority of the legal voters thereof shall vote in favor of it upon the question being submitted to them upon due notice; and said ordinance is hereby so amended, and the consolidation of the two corporations consummated, as provided in said act and the proceedings thereunder.

This ordinance to take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

On motion the rules were suspended and the ordinance was adopted.

President Cox announced that he would assign the new members to places on the various committees at next meeting.

The question as to whether the citizens of the Sixth ward shall vote for general officers at the regular election in January was brought up and discussed at some length. It was a knotty problem. All were anxious that the privilege be granted, but the act authorizing the consolidation contained no provisions covering the case. It was finally moved that said citizens be allowed to vote for general officers at the said election, but the motion was lost.

An ordinance was then passed ordering a special election to be held in the Sixth ward on Monday, January 4th, 1892, to choose two Councilmen one to serve three years and the other two years, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes to serve three years and the candidate receiving the next highest number of votes to serve two years. David

Wells, Fred Schroeder and George Young were appointed Inspectors. The old council chamber in that ward was selected as the polling-place.

It was stated that B. P. McClannahan and T. B. Chinn, two of the Inspectors of election appointed at last meeting, were officers of registration, the one in the Second ward and the other in the Fourth, and therefore could not serve as Inspectors. J. D. Brewer and John Moore were appointed to fill said vacancies respectively.

Thomas McDonald was recommended for policeman for the Sixth ward. The Mayor appointed said McDonald to the position and said appointment was confirmed.

An ordinance was read fixing the salary of the Marshal and Deputy Marshals. It was moved that the salary of the Deputies be fixed at $50 a month and that of the Marshal at $75 per month. The motion was lost. It was moved that the salary of the City Marshal be fixed at $75 per month and the motion carried.

The action on the first motion as to the Deputy Marshals was then reconsidered and a motion was again made to fix the salary of the Deputies at $50 per month. The motion carried, the President casting the deciding vote. The ordinance was then passed, under a suspension of the rules. The ordinance goes into effect January 1st, 1892. The Marshal in addition to the salary fixed will receive his commissions from the collection of delinquent taxes, fines and old bonds, and his costs in criminal cases where they are paid, but he will not get the costs where they are worked out. The Marshal has heretofore been getting house rent, fuel, gas and water free, but he will not be allowed these after January 1st, 1892.

The Council adjourned until Tuesday evening, December 8th.

CARLISLE was visited by a big fire Saturday morning. The flames started in the frame building on Main street occupied by Dallas & Laubley and A. Peters' dealers in harness and boots and shoes respectively. In a few minutes it had extended to the grocery and residence of John H. Frey, and destroyed the entire block, which was owned by Frey. The loss will amount to about $14,000, distributed as follows: Loss to Frey, on block of three stores and stock, $10,000, insurance $3,000. Dallas & Laubley, $2,500, insurance $1,000. Peters, $1,200, insurance $600. At one time the old court house caught fire, but was quickly extinguished. As there were evidences of burglary found near the scene of the fire, there is little doubt that it was of incendiary origin.

JOHN R. MITCHELL, of Washington, has received notice through his attorney, Captain M. C. Hutchins, that he has been allowed a pension of $12 per month from August 1, 1890.

MINE DISASTER.

Sixty People Killed by an Explosion of Fire Damp.

TWENTY OTHERS WERE RESCUED

The Scene of the Terrible Calamity in the St. Etienne Coal Fields in Southwestern France—Latest News from the Chinese Rebellion—Other Foreign Disasters.

PARIS, Dec. 7.—A fearful disaster is reported from the St. Etienne coal field in the southwest of France. While eighty miners were engaged in the pit an explosion of fire damp caused the death of at least sixty. The first notice that the people outside the pit had of the disaster was a rumbling sound, followed by smoke and flame rushing from the mouth of the pit. As soon as possible men descended to the rescue, while hundreds of women and children gathered around the opening, shrieked and wailed in agony for the fathers and brothers below.

The rescuers reported to have found all dead, but twenty who had been in the workings where the explosion did not have its full effect. The scene, as the bodies were brought up, was terrible. Women fell on the bodies of their relatives and could not be torn away, and loud imprecations were uttered against the officials whose neglect was held responsible for the calamity. The authorities are preparing to hold a rigid investigation, as it is claimed that the mine had been inspected within a few hours before the explosion, and declared safe to work in.

REBELLION IN CHINA.

The Government Massing Its Forces Preparatory to a Forward Moment.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—A dispatch received from Pekin says that the report that the missionaries in certain parts of the disturbed districts had abandoned their stations and sought safety in flight is not true at least so far as the Catholic priests are concerned. The priests believe that they have no reason to fear ill treatment, and even though they have, they remain at their posts.

The dispatch further says that Viceroy Li Hung Chang, who is moving with all possible promptitude to put an end to the trouble, is massing his forces in the direction of Manchuria, and that his object is to make a forward movement against the enemy, and if possible surround them.

There is a strong probability, too, that the rebels will find themselves in trouble growing out of the recent murder of a Mongolian prince. The Mongolians are furious, not only against the actual murderers, but against the whole body of rebels, and threats of vengeance are freely made. It is thought here that if the Mongolians start in to avenge a murder of the prince, the imperial troops will have little work to do in Manchuria.

LIVERY STABLE BURNED.

A Number of Valuable Horses Perish in the Flames.

DURANGO, Colo., Dec. 7.—At 1:15 Saturday night fire broke out in the livery stable of A. C. Meyers, at this place. The fire department was soon on the scene, but on account of the snow were unable to do effective work. In the front part of the building were stored carriages and wagons belonging to Mr. Meyers and his customers.

The rear was occupied by thirty-five horses, many of which were very valuable. One of the employees of the stable was sleeping in the rear room. He made an effort to save the horses, but only succeeded in getting out one or two, when the flames drove him out and the rest of the horses perished. The building with all its contents was entirely destroyed. Loss about $40,000; partially insured.

Ohio's Leading Lawyer Dead.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 7.—Judge Rufus P. Ranney, the leader of the Ohio bar, died in this city Sunday, at the age of seventy-eight. He was generally acknowledged to be the best authority upon constitutional law in the state, and his opinions were solicited by members of the bar in all sections of the Union. During his life he had been a member of the supreme bench of the state, the president of the constitutional convention in 1851, United States district attorney and president of the State Bar association. He was nominated by the Democrats for governor, but defeated by William Dennison. During the last two years his health had been failing, and death was not unexpected. He leaves property of considerable value to his heirs.

KENT, O., Dec. 7.—Charlie Sawyer, aged twenty, had a narrow escape from death at the Speed recorder works, where he is employed, Saturday afternoon. In some manner he was caught in the elevator, and was rescued by a companion just in time to save his life. He escaped with a few slight bruises.

NOTICE.

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE

MAYSVILLE, KY., December 4, 1891.
On Tuesday, December 8th, 1891, between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock a.m., at the Council Chamber, Maysville, Ky., the undersigned will publicly receive bids, on behalf of the City of Maysville, for the franchise and privilege embraced in the following ordinance to-wit:

AN ORDINANCE to authorize the construction of Gas and Fuel Works and to maintain and operate the same, and to provide the citizens of the City of Maysville with gas and fuel to be used for heating and power purposes.

§ 1. Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Maysville, That the said Company, its successors or assigns, in the manufacture, distribution and sale of fuel gas for use by the said city and the citizens thereof, and also the right of way along, in and under, and the right to use the avenues, streets, alleys, yards, and other public ways and city and territory as now laid out, for the purpose of laying, placing, operating, repairing gas mains and pipes, feeders and service pipes in connection therewith for heating, fuel and power purposes or and either of them; provided the said gas mains, pipes, feeders and service pipes shall not interfere with the necessary or proper use of said streets, avenues, public grounds and places.

§ 2. The franchise and privilege granted shall be for the period of twenty years from the date of the acceptance of this ordinance by the said company as hereinbefore provided.

§ 3. That whenever any avenue, street, alley, public ground or place shall be broken or opened for any of the purposes aforesaid the same shall be restored to as good condition as before said breaking or opening, or as nearly as may be, with all conveniences.

§ 4. In consideration of the privilege and authority hereinbefore granted the said —— Company, its successors or assigns, or assigns by the acceptance hereof within the period of sixty days from the date of the acceptance hereof to commence the erection of works within or adjacent to said city and to complete the same within one year from the time of said acceptance.

§ 5. The price of fuel gas to consumers in said city shall not exceed the sum of fifty cents (50c) per thousand cubic feet, bills payable monthly on or before the 10th day of each calendar month for the gas used during the previous calendar month.

§ 6. The said —— Company, its successors and assigns shall at its own cost extend the mains throughout the said city at the order of the said city, and shall supply private consumers along the said main in writing agree to take and use said gas from the said —— Company, its successors and assigns, at the rate of one consumer for each ninety (90) feet of the required extension, or upon such terms as may be mutually agreed upon.

§ 7. The gas furnished under this ordinance and contract shall be of pure character and of merchantable quality for fuel.

§ 8. The said —— Company, its successors or assigns, shall not charge the said city or private consumers for service pipes from the main pipe to the line of lot supplied and from line of lot to meters, to exceed the actual cost of the said pipe and the laying and connecting thereof.

§ 9. The said —— Company, its successors and assigns shall have the right to make and enforce all the necessary rules and regulations for the protection of the said gas works and property in a manner and time of payment for gas by the consumers abiding on the same for non-payment of charges, and such other rules as may be necessary, not in conflict with the laws of the State of Kentucky or of the United States or the city of Maysville.

§ 10. If said —— Company, its successors or assigns, shall, within ten days after the adoption of this ordinance, file with the Clerk of the said city of Maysville, its or their acceptance of the same in writing, a bond with the Clerk of the said city in the sum of $10,000, to be paid to the said —— Company, its successors and assigns, and shall within sixty days after such acceptance, commence the necessary arrangements to comply with the conditions of this ordinance, and shall complete the said works within one year from the time of the beginning of said work and be ready to supply gas from its mains, within six months from the date of acceptance hereof and to the Clerk of the said city in writing, within one year from the beginning of said work, this ordinance and contract shall be valid and binding upon the said city and the said —— Company, its successors and assigns. It is provided, however, that full allowance shall be made for all delays that may occur in the construction or completion of said work by the order or injunction of any court, malicious interference, unavoidable accidents or delays, strikes or stress of weather. And the time shall be before the date of the completion of said work shall be extended so as to allow for such delays. And that no such delays shall work a forfeiture of any rights hereby granted.

§ 11. The acceptance hereof by said —— Company, its successors and assigns, shall be in writing and shall be filed with or delivered to the Clerk of said city.

§ 12. The acceptance hereof by said —— Company in any street, alley or other public place to be under the supervision of the Committee on Internal Improvements.

Said franchise and privilege to be granted to the highest and best bidder upon the following conditions to-wit:

That any company to whom the said privilege or franchise may be granted before entering upon the construction of said works within the city, shall execute and deliver to said city a bond, with approved security in the sum of ($10,000) ten thousand dollars.

Conditioned for the faithful performance of the conditions of said ordinance, with reference to replacing the streets and alleys dug up by them and save the city harmless from any and all loss, it may sustain, from accident or damage, in the construction of their works, this bond, however to apply only to the construction of their main and side lines and that said bond shall be made a part of the ordinance, granting said privilege. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

MARTIN A. O'HARE, City Clerk.

An Ordinance

Ordering An Election to Be Held January 4th, 1891.
